Description :

PDF-9a26d | A disarming, lyrical hybrid of fiction and autobiography, this forgotten masterpiece of post-war English fiction follows a small boy through his First World War childhood and teenage years on the Kentish coast, then into the army and frontline service in the Second World War. Obsessed by his strange twin passions for orchids and for fireworks, the author-narrator paints a haunting portrait of a ch... The Orchid Trilogy: The Military Orchid, A Mine of Serpents, The Goose Cathedral
